General Terms and Conditions (GTC) for event services of the
"Messe Congress Graz" Betriebsgesellschaft m.b.H. (hereinafter referred to as MCG)
Version: June 2022

In addition, the house rules posted on the MCG premises apply.

I. Reservation / conclusion of contract

1. Appointment reservation

The contractual partner must first submit a written request to MCG with a desired date. This request does not justify a claim for MCG to allocate the specified date, but merely represents a legally binding and irrevocable offer by the contractual partner.

All enquiries/appointment requests are generally treated by MCG according to the priority principle.

Requested dates will be checked by MCG and confirmed in writing. Verbal appointment requests will only be checked and reserved after written confirmation. The written confirmation of an appointment by MCG results in a non-binding reservation of the appointment for the respective contractual partner.

However, MCG is entitled, without giving reasons, not to allocate an appointment at all or to use it itself despite the existence of one or more reservations.

The contracting party must already announce the title of the event/name of the artist etc. when reserving the date. Any subsequent change of the title, the program or the protagonist(s) will result in the cancellation of the reservation.

2. Reservation

The reservation will only be converted into a binding appointment reservation by MCG after payment of the reservation fee according to the offer. A change to the title of the event/name of the artist, the program etc. already announced by the contractual partner when the date was reserved will result in the cancellation of the reservation.

The conclusion of the contract on which the GTC are based does not constitute a corporate relationship of any kind whatsoever between MCG and the Contractual Partner.

A transfer of reservations to third parties is only possible with the express consent of MCG. However, MCG expressly reserves the right to submit a new offer for this date to a third party proposed by the contractual partner.

The contract for event services is concluded in each case for one event, which is concluded for a single agreed date. MCG shall not be obligated to make the existing property or other premises available for future events. No claim to use at the same time in the future can be derived from repeated use at certain times or on certain topics.

3. Reservation fee

Reservations are made exclusively against payment. The fee is (depending on the event) from € 3,000 plus VAT + 1% contract tax per reserved event day.

After the event has been carried out in accordance with the contract, 70% of this reservation fee will be deducted from the contract fee if - starting with the timely signing of the contract - all points have been fulfilled by the contractual partner in a timely manner.

The reservation fee represents a lump-sum payment for keeping the reserved appointment free, as well as for MCG's administrative expenses associated with the reservation. The reservation of an appointment is only binding upon receipt of the reservation fee. If a contract for event services does not come about for whatever reason, the contractual partner has no right to a refund of any kind for a reservation fee that has already been paid.

If a legally binding contract for event services is already concluded concurrently with the announcement of the desired date, no reservation fee is to be paid.

4. Cancellation of appointment reservations

Appointment reservations expire automatically if

- a) no legally valid contract is concluded within 3 weeks (or at a date specifically agreed in writing with MCG)..
- b) the agreement between the contractual partner and its client on which the implementation of the event in question is based is terminated for whatever reason.
- c) Insolvency proceedings are opened against the assets of the contractual partner or the application for the opening of such is rejected due to a lack of assets to cover costs.
- d) the appointment reservation fee is not paid concurrently with receipt of the offer or transmission of a corresponding invoice.

II. Subject of the contract

The subject of the contract for event services shall be exclusively those areas, premises and services that are expressly listed as such in the contract for event services. The use or joint use of other objects and services must be agreed separately in writing.

1. Event level

The level of the event, as well as all other activities of the contractor, must comply with the agreements and must not harm the reputation of MCG.

2. Transfer of rights

The contractual partner is only entitled to pass on rights arising from this contract, be it for a fee or free of charge, in whole or in part, to a third party with the express written consent of MCG. A breach of this provision constitutes a material breach of contract in accordance with point IX. If MCG agrees to the transfer of rights, whether for a fee or free of charge, in whole or in part, to a third party, the contractual partner remains jointly and severally liable towards MCG, in addition to the liability of the third party.

3. Rooms and areas

The rooms and areas used may only be used for the contractual purpose defined in the contract for event services and to the extent agreed therein. Any deviation shall constitute a material breach of contract entitling MCG to terminate the contract prematurely, unless expressly approved by MCG in advance in writing.

Complaints regarding the rooms and areas used must be made at the time of taking over the object. Subsequent complaints cannot be taken into consideration.

Entering and using rooms, facilities and areas that are not the subject of the contract is prohibited. Entering the entire premises and the halls is at your own risk.

4. Set-up and dismantling

The contractual partner shall be responsible for compliance with the set-up and dismantling times. Any use of the inventory object beyond the agreed duration must be agreed separately and will in any case be additionally invoiced to the contractual partner. The contractual partner shall be liable for damages incurred by MCG as a result of failure to vacate the premises on time; this shall apply in particular to loss of profit. Should the dismantling not take place in due time or not completely, MCG shall be entitled to have the dismantling carried out at the expense and risk of the contractual partner.

5. Start of dismantling

Dismantling may only begin when there is no longer an audience in the existing building and the event is considered closed to the public.

6. Closing time - safety

All work equipment must be kept free of work waste and deposits. At the end of the working day, it must be ensured that the lighting and all electrical devices are switched off unless they are approved for continuous operation without supervision. Security and telecommunications facilities remain operational at all times and must not be switched off. Furthermore, at the end of the working day, all work areas in the halls and in the open spaces must be put in order, combustible waste and electrical equipment must be removed. Valves of gas systems that are not in operation must be closed.

A stay beyond the agreed end of work is only permitted with the approval of the project management. Overnight stays in the existing property or on the exhibition grounds and parking areas are prohibited.

7. Structural changes

Structural or other changes, drilling, etc. of the existing property or its facilities require the prior written consent of MCG and may only be carried out at the expense and cost of the contractual partner. MCG commissions a licensed company with the restoration and is to be paid for by the contractual partner after invoicing. The contractual partner is also liable for such changes which are carried out by its exhibitors, guests, employees or persons or companies commissioned by it.

8. Political events

The contractual partner is prohibited from any political agitation, except for events with a political purpose. MCG reserves the right to refuse to conclude a contract for events that serve agitation purposes.

9. Usage, provision

The entire inventory object (all rooms, areas, etc.) is to be treated professionally and with care in accordance with its purpose. Upon termination of the contractual relationship, the inventory object shall be returned to MCG in the condition in which it was taken over, and any inventory brought in shall be removed at the Contractual Partner's own expense and risk. The event organizer shall be responsible for the proper return to the MCG or contractual partners of the MCG of all furniture provided by the MCG or contractual partners of the MCG.

Furthermore, any change of the same shall be notified to MCG without delay.

The contact person named by the contractual partner is deemed to be authorized by the contractual partner to accept official instructions or other complaints and declarations, also from MCG, with binding effect for the contractual partner.

Should the contact person be absent or unavailable during the term of the contract, MCG shall be deemed to have been authorized by the Contractual Partner to take or arrange for such measures as appear expedient hereunder without prior notification of the Contractual Partner and at the latter's risk and expense.

The contractual partner has no right to issue instructions to the staff of MCG or the staff commissioned by MCG. The respective project management is responsible for this, and their instructions must be followed.

The contractual partner shall provide this information in the form of an organization or schedule plan, or rider/stage instructions. Furthermore, all program sequences are to be verifiably communicated by this time. If the contractual partner fails to meet this obligation, MCG cannot guarantee that the contractual partner can be provided with the technical and personnel equipment and facilities required by him. If changes are made after this deadline, the corresponding costs shall be borne by the contractual partner in any case.

If this is not the case, this fee will be charged to the contractual partner with the final invoice..

The contractual partner undertakes to sell only such goods whose sale does not constitute an

13. Heating and ventilation systems/air conditioning systems

Heating and ventilation systems etc. must remain freely accessible and unobstructed for the entire duration of the contractual relationship and may not be obstructed.

14. Drives, electrical systems

Drives, such as electric motors, transmissions, belts, reduction gears, etc. must always be kept free of storage and deposits. Electrical systems that are brought into the halls of organizers or exhibitors must be designed in accordance with legal requirements. These must be maintained in accordance with regulations. Modifications and repairs may only be carried out by persons authorized to do so. The creation of temporary installations is prohibited, in particular the bridging of blown fuses.

15. Heat-generating devices

Devices that generate heat (e.g. searchlights on towers, etc.) must be installed at a sufficient distance so that the automatic sprinkler system is not triggered. Heat-generating electrical devices must be monitored during use. They are to be set up on non-combustible, heat-insulating bases in such a way that flammable objects in the vicinity cannot be ignited even if they are excessively heated.

16. Faulty devices

Defective devices must be withdrawn from use immediately.

Defective systems, such as sockets and cables, may only be repaired by qualified electricians.

Blown fuses should only be replaced with new ones of the same value.

17. Use of incandescent lamps

When using incandescent lamps, it must be ensured that the power specifications do not exceed the maximum power of the sockets.

18. Heat build-up

In the case of spotlights, incandescent lamps and emergency lighting, sufficient distance from combustible parts must be ensured. When setting up electrical equipment, ensure that sufficient heat dissipation is guaranteed. Hanging or lining is not permitted.

19. Electrical devices with open heating wires are forbidden.

20. Fireplaces

Heating, cooking and warming devices (including connecting pieces, smoke and exhaust pipes) may only be set up and put into operation with the approval of the management and in accordance with the instructions of the fire protection officer. They must be properly maintained and operated.

21. Welding, flame cutting, soldering or other hot work

In the case of welding, flame cutting, soldering, abrasive cutting or similar hot work, the following may in principle only be carried out after written approval has been obtained from MCG.

22. Smoke emission

To prevent smoke from entering the escape routes, doors to stairwells and smoke control doors in corridors as well as doors with self-closing devices must be kept closed. They must not be obstructed in their function by forced measures such as wedging or tying. Only doors with hold-open devices that are controlled by smoke detectors and close automatically in the event of fire may be kept open.

23. Smoke control doors

It is not permitted to place objects within the closing range of fire and smoke protection doors.

Markings and controls during operation of the sales areas in the foyer must ensure that the closing area of the smoke seals or ventilation openings is kept free of objects.

Manipulations of self-closing doors must be avoided, otherwise there is a risk of fire spreading and the spread of toxic smoke gases in the event of a fire.

24. Doors against escape direction

Doors that can be opened against the direction of escape must be manned by a security guard for the entire duration of the event.

25. Use of storage space

In storage rooms, main and intermediate aisles must be kept clear at all times. The stored goods must be stored in such a way that the windows and doors are accessible and heat sources are not blocked. No material may be stored on window sills or radiators.

3. Photos, video

MCG is permitted to take photos and videos of the event free of charge and to use them without restriction, in particular for advertising purposes. The contractual partner is prohibited from taking photographs, filming or drawing in the premises or on the areas used.

Likewise, the contractual partner is prohibited from using drones and similar flying objects, for whatever purpose, without the prior written consent of MCG.

The advertising and press material (flyers, texts, photos, posters, etc.) from the contractual partner must not damage the public image or contradict other important interests.

4. Advertising

The advertising of the event is the responsibility of the contractual partner. Should advertising take place in the existing property or on the MCG premises, this shall require the prior written consent of the MCG. Remuneration for this shall be agreed separately.

5. MCG home page

The contractual partner agrees that MCG may create a link to the contractual partner's homepage on the website www.mcg.at as of the signing of the contract, whereby it is noted that the contractual partner remains responsible for the content of this page.

6. Naming of organizer

The contracting party must name itself as the organizer in all printed materials (posters, admission tickets, etc.) so that it is clear in each case who the organizer is.

7. On-site advertising

If advertising measures are present in or around the existing property at the time of handover, MCG shall not be obliged to remove them. This also applies in the event that the existing advertising measures create a competitive relationship with the contractual partner.

IX. Withdrawal from contract, termination of contract

1. Withdrawal from the contract by contractual partner

If the contractual partner withdraws from the contract for a reason for which MCG is not responsible or if it does not carry out the event for whatever reason, it is obliged to pay the following cancellation fees:

- Declaration of withdrawal in writing from the signing of the contract up to 91 days (including weekends and public holidays) before the start of the event: 50%
- Declaration of cancellation in writing 90 - 31 days (including weekends and public holidays) before the start of the event: 75%
- Declaration of withdrawal in writing from 30 days (including weekends and public holidays) before the start of the event: 100%

The fee according to the contract for event services including the fee for the planned additional services plus the contract fee will be charged. Irrespective of this, advance services already rendered by MCG must be paid for in any case.

In the event that the event cannot take place due to a lockdown ordered by the authorities, no cancellation fee is to be paid by the contractual partner, but advance services already rendered by MCG must also be paid by the contractual partner in this case.

This cancellation fee is to be paid as lump-sum damages regardless of fault, expressly excluding the right of judicial mitigation. MCG expressly reserves the right to claim damages in excess of the agreed cancellation fees.

Cancellation of the contract must be demonstrably made in writing.

2. Damage compensation

If the event cannot be held or has to be postponed, shortened or extended due to force majeure, strike, political events or other important reasons (including, in particular, official measures such as bans on entering or restrictions), any claims for damages by the exhibitor against the organizer are excluded

The contracting party may not compensate the obligations incumbent on it under the contract with alleged or actual counterclaims; the latter shall rather be asserted separately.

3. Withdrawal from the contract by MCG

MCG shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract with immediate effect in the event of material breaches of contract by the contractual partner, without prejudice to further claims and rights, and in particular in the following cases

- if the contractual partner, despite a reminder from MCG and the setting of a grace period of 5 working days, does not pay the agreed down payment or deposit on time,
- if he has not fulfilled other essential contractual obligations. This is the case, for example, if
 - a disturbance of order and safety is to be feared due to the intended event,
 - it turns out that the contracting party does not have the necessary performance rights for the event that is the subject of the contract,
 - the official permits required for the event have not been granted or have been withdrawn again or the contracting party violates such conditions,
 - the safety of visitors is endangered when the event is held,
 - the contractual partner substantially changes the event program without the consent of MCG,
 - the MCG premises are not available as a result of force majeure (or the consequences of a terrorist action),
 - bankruptcy or composition proceedings are instituted against the assets of the contracting party or such proceedings are rejected due to lack of assets to cover costs.

In these cases, the contractual partner has no claim for compensation of any kind against MCG.

4. Advance payments upon contract termination

In the event of a withdrawal from the contract by the contractual partner or MCG or in the event of any early termination, MCG is entitled to withhold advance payments made as compensation and to use guarantees provided to cover expenses incurred, this without prejudice to further claims and rights of MCG.

X. Liability

1. Liability MCG

If MCG violates its obligations under the contractual relationship, it is only liable for intent and gross negligence (thus in particular not for damage caused by failure of the energy supply, terrorist acts or terrorist threats, natural and nuclear disasters, storms, fire and other events of damage attributable to force majeure) and only up to the amount of the fee agreed in the contract for event services.

2. People, theft, damage

In particular, MCG assumes no liability for theft of or damage to objects brought in by the contracting partner or third parties during the event or the set-up or dismantling period, animals, accidents suffered by the event organizer or visitors or other users of the object of occupancy;

3. Execution of the event

The contractual partner bears full responsibility and risk for the proper execution of the contractual event, in particular he is solely responsible for its smooth course, including preparation, assembly and dismantling.

The contractual partner is therefore liable for any personal injury or damage to property caused by him, his employees or persons commissioned or authorized by him or by visitors or guests, to whomever.

The contractual partner is also liable for damage or extraordinary wear and tear to the rooms accessible to the public during the event and in the facilities and installations located therein.

4. Permitted number of people

The contractual partner shall be liable for compliance with the maximum permissible number of persons. For events without ticket issue, the organizer shall set up counters or take other suitable measures to determine the number of persons (e.g. personal counting, etc.) and keep a record of this, which can be retrieved by the MCG or the authorities at any time.

5. Liability insurance

MCG can demand that the organizer take out organizer liability insurance, in which case MCG must be authorized to collect the sum insured from the insurer in the event of an insured event. The contractual partner must ensure that the necessary collection authorization notices are given in favor of MCG on the insurance policy and present these when the contract is concluded. When conducting particularly dangerous events or events that are likely to cause damage of a greater magnitude, MCG can demand that the insurance be reversed in favor of MCG. It is stated that regardless of the obligation to take out insurance, the contractual partner remains fully liable.

6. Damage to health

The contractual partner bears full liability for damage to health resulting from exposure to noise during a concert or other event. He undertakes to indemnify and hold harmless MCG against third-party claims arising from this title.

7. Compliance with all conditions

The contract partner is aware of the house rules, the notices relevant to the event and public law obligations. The contractual partner undertakes to comply with the relevant requirements as well as with the provisions of the building police, fire police, trade authorities, event law and other statutory provisions. In the event of non-compliance, the contractual partner shall fully indemnify and hold MCG harmless against all claims of third parties. This includes, in particular, the bearing of costs for direct or indirect damages incurred by MCG or third parties, the costs of out-of-court settlement, the costs of extrajudicial and judicial legal representation of MCG including any costs of proceedings, the costs of official penalties resulting from this overrun and compensation for lost profit.

If the contractual partner fails to comply with its obligations resulting therefrom or with the instructions and orders issued within the scope of the contract, or if it is not in a position to prevent riots and infringements by participants and/or visitors, MCG is entitled, without prejudice to other rights, to take the necessary measures at the expense of the contractual partner or to have them taken by third parties commissioned by it. MCG is further entitled to terminate the event prematurely at the expense and risk of the contractual partner, or to have it terminated, if there is any danger to the safety of the participants and/or visitors, the employees of MCG or the assets of MCG, or if there is even a threat of danger, or of violence, terrorist attacks, etc. In this case, the contractual partner has no claims for compensation whatsoever against MCG.

8. Indemnification and indemnity

The contractual partner shall indemnify and hold MCG harmless against any and all claims of third parties resulting from a breach of the obligations incumbent upon it under this Agreement and the GTC, regardless of whether the damage was caused by the contractual partner itself, third parties commissioned by the contractual partner, visitors and/or participants in the contractual partner's event.
